

Note

Thu, Oct 20, 2022 4:24PM 2:17

SUMMARY

abernathy, curse, call, walked, bias, altercation, peacefully, sheriff, police, dog, buddies, shows, anymore, definitive, talk, hollering, small, looked,

SPEAKERS

00:00

Oh 724 On a Thursday I had a small altercation outside the front house was walking on my dog and when pain has been seen by it wasn't anything. I walked past. And I someone scream out. And I said to, you know, I kept on certain target or whatever and I went over and looked at who it is because they've got the attention of my dog, and which one to turn on. So can I help you with something and they responded Can I help you with something? No, I'm fine. Thank you. I'm it. After that, you know, then after that, it kept on kept on and eventually he started cursing and hollering and then I said, Okay, well do I need to call the sheriff and he kept on. So I call the sheriff. And immediately when me mom walked down here, they said, Well, what are we gonna need to call Abernathy to have Abernathy take care of this. So, right there. They did actually say to Abernathy over here, this conflict of interest. It shows a definitive police bias. And it also shows that the root of all of our trauma and problems that we've been having out here is solely on Abernathy which is another, you know, another ground for lawsuits. So, we're getting stopped, we're ending this we're not taking anymore and you know, but that's kind of funny. And it if the police, the police officer comes out here and doesn't do anything, then that's a definitive sign that there's nothing but bias that this is bias. This is partisan police work. And these are people these are buddies each other in the But I want to have it go ahead and this before it happened. I didn't curse at him. I said can I help you? And I said, Dude, you know not to talk to me. You know, because that's what Chang told me. So I'm doing what I was told it was my mom business. And then it kept on I said, you know, fine art called I'm not taking this anymore if I can't peacefully my property, then what can I do?