

It's one on Tuesday, October the 18th. And I walked in the house and discovered the door was and left the door and and the is open. So it's kind of interesting to seriously consider getting a security camera installed on here and running it